COMMON COUNCIL FOR JUNE .- The June see sion of the Common Council commences to-day, and will probably continue through the week. We trust the early attention of the members may be attracted to the numerous grievances against which our citizens are beginning to cry out in sheer despair. The time now intervening between the sittings of the Boards must leave abundant opportunities for the Aldermen of every Ward to examine thoroughly and carefully all the evils com-plained of among their several constituencies. It is to be hoped that the present incumbents, from the highest to the lowest station, will take speedy measures to remove all causes of just complaint. Among the more prominent objects which call for prompt and efficient action at the hands of the authorities, are those terrible hotheds of disease and death in the upper portions of the Island-the Bone, Horse, Cow and Pig establishments, which are and will always continue to be prolific sources of infection and annoyance to denizens of the upper Wards. Why will not the Corperation enact, forthwith, that all such dangerous plague-spots shall be at once removed to the extremity of the island, or entirely out of the limits of the City -or else that the offensive effluvia shall be removed by some mechanical or chemical agency. (and there is no difficulty in doing this, if it were made penally obligatory ;) so that the surrounding at mosphere shall not be poisoned, by the noxious odors. These establishments are undoubtedly 'necessary evils,' somewhere. But we insist that the proprietors of such places have no right, either morally or legally, to destroy the comfort of their neighbors—much less, to endanger their health and lives.— Messrs. Aldermen! suppose a case: Were there a smelting establishment, a horse-skinning house and bone-boiling vats in the short circumference of the Third and Fifth Wards, standing upon the sites occapied by the two great Sugar Refineries-how long would the people thereabouts suffer the inflic tion without a protest or perhaps some more violent demonstration? Would you not feel bound by ah sorts of considerations to remove the abominations with all practicable speed; and would there not be swift enactments against the presumptuous individuals who might attempt the deed? Now, what duals who might attempt the deed duals who might attempt the deed dual the down town thickly-populated districts and the up-town Wards thickly-populated districts and the up-town Wards thickly-populated districts and the up-town Wards There is no good reason why the lives of one party should not be held as sacred as the other. The Sixteenth the Twelfth, and the new Nineteenth teenth, the Twelfth, and the new Nineteenth Wards are swarming with these pest-houses.— Every year we hear of movements to remedy the evil. Last Summer, the majority of them were closed by order of the Board of Health; this Spring and this opening Summer of 1850, they are in full operation and diffuse their poisonous odors every-where around, unchecked and unrebuked. The time has now come when these abominations must to condition of Washington Market is r evil which demands action.

The hear sundry anxious inquiries as to the tion of the Harlem Railroad to the lower ex-extension of the Harren strength of the Park.

—Then there is the contemplated extension of College-place; the abolition of the useless office of the City-Hall Keeper—drawing a thousand or two dollars a year for no earthly good; the Reports of dollars a year for no earthly good; dollars a year for no earthly good; the Reports of the Committee on Ordinances on the various matters committed to their care—many of which have been anxiously inquired for, in the course of the nat few weeks; with a great variety of important subjects which have laid dormant in the different Committee-Rooms for weeks and months. We trust these Committees have worked diligently during the May recess, and will be ready to do nomething in earnest.

We may express the hope, in conclusion, that all useless declamation on small subjects may give place to some prompt and decisive action upon the important matters which so nearly concern the health, convenience and prosperity of our citizens.

PRINTERS' UNION .- A spirited meeting of the ion was held on Saturday night, E. H. ROGERS Vice President, in the Chair. Twelve or fourteen new members were elected, and ninety five propo-titious were received. A debate then arose upon e appointment of a Committee to draft a Scale Prices, and a Committee of thirteen was re tived upon; but, in order to give this large rein ement an opportunity to participate in the form by of the Committee, their appointment is deferred to the meantime a special Meeting will be held on Saturday or a seed from the total to the their appointment of the total tot nore new members. A letter was read in the Kew-York Typographical Association, conveying an avitation to attend the dedication of their Reading toom on the 19th inst. The invitation was ac ted. A vote of thanks was extended to the ton Protective Union, New-York Globe, Sunday patch, Tribune, and all other papers in this and throughout the country which had given Report (or a summary of it) on the Condition of ing Business, to their readers. On motion, ace Greeley and H. J. Crate were appoin elegates to the Workingmen's Convention, which seets on Wednesday evening, at 7½ P. M. at lean's Fourteenth Ward Hotel. We hope that to only all those proposed will be at the next seeing, but that every man will bring another me for proposeal. Another very small bill of mortality, thanks towhat. Messieurs of the Medical Faculty? We have here the lowest number returned for any week during the year, and we think the lowest number of any week within several years. We shall have some comparative figures on this point in a day or two. Deducting the casualties, premature births, &c. we have for last week but 219 deaths from disease-no cholers and no small pox or typhus fevers worth special notice. Nearly a fifth of the deaths were from consumption and con-vulsions; nearly a third from these and inflammation of the lungs; 45 from inflammation of all kinds The public institutions are very healthy. Not quite one half (115) are under 10 years of age. What were these children born for? The proportion of foreigners is a little lower in that bill. The emperature of the week has been as follows :

FIREMEN'S VISIT .- This evening the Diligent Hose Company, of Philadelphia, will arrive here on a visit to their brother firemen of this City, and we doubt not will be handsomely entertained by their gallant brothers. Our firemen will do bonor to themselves on this occasion, and send their Phil-adelphia brethren home with a good opinion of our City's hospitality. The different companies will City's hospitality. The different companies will meet in the Park, at 8 o'clock precisely, the right of the line at the west gate. The companies will take precedence according to their numbers. The route will be as follows: Through Broadway to Fulton, through Fulton to Greenwich, through Greenwich to the Amboy boat, where they will receive the guests of the Department, the Diligent Hose Company of Philadelphia, and proceed through Greenwich st. to Courtland, through Courtland to Broadway, through Broadway to Park Bow, through Park Row, Chatham and East Broadway to Grand, through Grand to Broadway, through Broadway to Canal, through Canal to Huds through Hudson to Clarkson, to Carmine st. throu Carmine to Bleecker, to Broadway, through Bro way to Great Jones-st. to No. 4 Engine House where the line will dismiss.

left on Saturday afternoon for Chagres, with 301 passengers, whose names will be found in another column. Among them we notice R. de Taldo, bearer of dispatches to California; Rev. F. E. Prevesux, and Rev. S. O. Grinnell and lady.

MISSIONARIES RETURNED .- Among the passengers by the Hendrik Hudson from London, arrived on Saturday, were Rev. Henry Cherry, lady and three children, from Madurin; and Mr. Barker and four children, from Assam, India.

CLERGYMEN RETURNED.-Rev. W. W. Everts of this City, and Rev. Asa Farwell and lady of Andover, were passengers in the Hendrik Hudson, arrived from London on Saturday.

MISSIONARIES FOR CALIFORNIA.-Among the passengers for California on board the Crescent City, which sailed on the 1st inst. were three Baptist Clergymen and a female teacher. Two of the clergymen are accompanied by their wives. They go out under the patronage of the American Baptist Home Mission Society.

Among the arrivals at the Irving House we otice Commodore Parker, U.S.N.; Mr. Belfourd, R.A.; Col. Wm. M. Smith, California; Col. Mumford, Va.; Hon. J. L. Orr, Washington; Hon. R. McLelland, Hudson; Col. F. Lee, U.S.A.; J.

MILITARY .- An election for Lieut. Colonel of the Second Regiment, First Brigade N. Y. S. M. will be held this evening at the Mercer House, corner Broome and Mercer sts. We understand that Brigade Major Bogart will receive a unanimous vote, o

The Eleventh Regiment, Col. Robt. C. Morris, is directed to parade in full fatigue uniform (cloth pantaloons) to day on the Washington Parade Ground. The line will be formed near the east gate at 4 o'clock, P. M. precisely.

The P. G.'s Capt. John N. Hayward, will parade about the middle of June for target practise.

Capt. Creighton has resigned the command of the Fifth Company, National Guard, preferring the rank of First Lieutenant. Capt Melville has been elected in his place. Capt. M. will in a short time receive from the members of his old command a gold medal worth over $200.

The Caledonian Fusiliers, Capt. Thos. W. Mc Lean, will muster on Thursday morning next, at 51 o'clock, at Mercer House, and proceed to Albany by morning line, and will visit Troy the day following On the 17th inst. (the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill.) a detachment of Continentals, consist ing of Capt. Van Dyke's, Capt. Helme's and Capt' Morgan's Companies, will parade in celebration of that glorious event. Captain Van Dyke will be in command. Company D, Washington Greys, Captain Lit de, will visit Hartford about the last week in July, acompanied by Dodworth's Band, as the quests of the Hartford Light Guard. The company, without question, will receive attention in New-Haven, and will spend a most delightful time.

The Hartford Light Guard, commanded by Maj. Webb, during the past week presented to the Dodworth Cornet Band a silver tankard of very beautiful and costly manufacture.

AN ERROR CORRECTED .- The statement that Capt. Williams has resigned or that he is a defaulter is a mistake. Charges have been preferred against the Captain; he has entered his plea of not guilty, and asked for an early day for trial. The principal charge is that he has drawn, and appropriated to his own use, money from the Department of Streets and Lamps by the presentation of fictirious bills or "returns" in the name of persons as sweepers of streets who were not so employed; and a communication has been presented to the Mayor setting forth the particular instances in which, and the names of persons by means of which, it is alleged such money was drawn. This statement purports to have been made from Capt. Williams's "returns" or accounts, but it so happens that it was prepared without even a sight of his accounts, and is therefore good for nothing. Capt. Williams, on receiving this statement, caused an examination of his accounts, which are filed in the Department of Streets and Lamps, to be instituted by the proper officers, and not a discrepancy or evidence of money drawn by fictitious returns, as charged, to the amount even of one cent has been gation, and pledges himself to resign instantly on the discovery of any fraud, or indeed, of any discrepancy in his accounts. Even if any delinquency ild be discovered, it may not appear to be that of Capt. Williams. At any rate, not one dollar will be lost by the Corporation

Other charges of lesser import have been preferred against Capt. Williams, among which is one of receiving from a certain person the sum of twen ty-eight dollars. Capt. Williams did obtain the written permission of the Mayor at the proper time, according to law, to receive this identical sum, and has now the permission in his pocket. PAY OF POLICEMEN.-We hear that the Police men, or a large number of them, will come before the Common Council to-night with a strong petition for an increase of salary. We have not space to examine the matter at length, but will state briefly that the reasons alleged for this petitition are : High rate of rents ; increased prices of provisions: responsible and exacting character of their duties: increase of population since the De-partment was organized, (1844,) and consequent increase of labor for Policemen; liability to be called on extra duty for a week at a time, as at the Hague-st. explosion, &c. &c. They say to the Al-dermen, that they are not on a strike for wages, that they do not expect or wish to compel, or use any undue influences to operate on your Honorable Body, to induce you to comply with the prayer of your petitioners, but relying on the justice of our claims, and believing in your desire and willingness to do justice between us and our fellow citizens, we comethefore you with this petition, with the fullest reliance and confidence that your Honorably Body will consider the matter in a true, cool, and candid manner, and grant us a fair and liberal compensation for our services as Policemen, and thus enable us to support ourselves and our families in a more comfortable manner, and to educate our children in such a manner as every American child should be educated, and thus fitted for a life of usefulness and propriety, and that your Honorable Body will agree with us, and by granting the prayer of your petitioners, carry comfort into the bosom of 900 families. any undue influences to operate on your Honorable

The next morning he called and stated "that he had purchased bills at other places, and would be abort of funds, and proposed taking two hundred dollars worth of goods." He accordingly selected goods to the amount of two hundred and eight dollars and forty-six cents, which goods he requested the privilege of leaving in the store, as he was not ready to ship. BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—Friday.—In the absence of the Mayor, the Supervisor of the Twelfth Ward was called to preside.

A bill of $42 48, for persons employed at the late fire in Waterst, was ordered to be paid.

Salary of the Clerk of General Sessions.—In consequence of the increased duties of the Clerk of General Sessions, who, with his other offices, has had for some time past to perform the duties of Clerk of the Court of Oyer and Terminer, it was resolved, upon the recommendation of the Committee on Criminal Courts, that his salary be increased from $1,750 to $2,000 per annum. The Committee in their report stated that, provious to the year 1823, the Clerk of the Court of Sossions was a fee office, wowth four for the thousand dollars per annum; the Legislature, in that year, directed that all fees collected and received by him should be paid into the City Treasury, and that he should receive in lieu thereof an annual salary, not exceeding $2,000 nor less than $1,500 per annum. The salary was then fixed at $2,000, and continued at that sum until about 1835. In 1820 the population of this City was about 124,000; it is now nearly $50,000—showing that the population has quadrupled between the years 1820 and 1830, and as a at that sum until about 1825. In 1820 the population of this City was about 124,000; it is now nearly 500,000—showing that the population has quadrupled between the years 1820 and 1830, and, as a necessary consequence, crime and business of the Criminal Courts vastly increased. The report then went on to show that the number of seasions now held far exceeds those held in former years. The resolution was adopted without a division.

The report of the Committee on Annual Taxes, on the applications for relief from excessive taxation, was received and adopted.

A discussion arose, upon a motion for equalizing the salaries of the Ward Assessors to the amount of work they have done. The Supervisor of the Sixth Ward, in opposing it, said that property amounting to one million, four hundred thousand dollars more, had been assessed than on previous years, which shows that the daties had been not inefficiently performed. The report of the Committee advised the reduction of the salaries of assessors $50 each, and after several amendments being negatived, the report was adopted by thirteen votes to five.

Coroner's Bill.—The communication and report were ordered to lay upon the table.

REAL ESTATE.-The following sales were made on Saturday at the Merchants' Exchange:

HIGHWAY ROBBERT AND ARREST .- James Turner and Michael Early, two notorious characters, were yesterday taken into custody by Officers Wogan and Powers of the Fourth Ward, charged with having knocked down Mr. Joseph McCabe, a resident of New Orleans, with a slung shot in the street, and with robbing him of $140, mostly in the street, and with robbing him of $140, mostly in gold coin. The stolen money was found in possession of the accused, who were locked up by Justice Lothrop for examination.

Grand Larceny.—A young German female named Wilhelmina Plintzeg, was yesterday arrested by Officers Mincho and Magnes, charged with having fraudulently obtained from the Custem House 4 boxes of surgical instruments, together with a quantity of silver ware, books, &c. to the value in all of $1,000, the property of Dr. Jacob F. Wessing of Baltimore. The property was recovered and the accused was committed by Justice Lothrop for examination.

CHARGE OF GRAND LARCENY .- A Frenchman Charge of Grand Larceny.—A Frenchman named Francis Seville was yesterday taken into custody by Capt. Carpenter, of the Fifth Ward, on suspicion of having stolen a pocket book containing $300, the property of Mr. Jules Cerf, of 5 White st. It appears that Mr. Cerf was in his room, with a friend, when the accused called to see him. He was about changing his coat, and had taken the pocket book from the coat he had on and laid it on the table, and while putting on the other coat Seville auddenly left the room. Mr. Cerf shortly after went into the street, forgetting his money, but soon discovered that he had left it, and went back to his room, when he found it had been carried off. He then preferred the complaint before Justice Lothrop, who committed the accused for examination.

RECOVERY OF A GOLD CHAIN.-Officers Dowl-RECOVERY OF A GOLD CHAIN.—Officers Dowling, McClosky and Garrigan, of the Sixth Ward Police, yesterday afternoon were passing up Nassau-st. and when near Maiden-lane, they observed three Five Point thieves, called Daniel Vanness, George Thompson and John Williams, who, on seeing the officers, started and ran off. The officers believing they had been stealing, gave chase, and after a long run, succeeded in taking them into custody, and on the person of Vanness the officers found a gold vest watch chain, link pattern, valued at about $20.5 This is believed to have been stolen from some store in the vicinity of Maiden-lane, for which an owner is wanted.—Justice Lothrop committed all three to prison.

INQUESTS .- A dead infant was found in the alley INQUESTS.—A dead infant was found in the alley, way of house 221 Walker st. at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, and brought to the Station-House by officer Wood. The Coroner was sent for, and held an inquest on the bedy, when a verdict was returned that the child died from want of proper care and attention... The Coroner held an inquest on Saturday at the foot of Thirty-first st. on the body of Peter Hayesey, aged 39 years, who was found floating in the river foot of Thirty-first st. No violence was discovered on the body. Verdict, death by drowning.

DEAD BODY FOUND.—We learn from Mr. Conover, keeper of the Sandy Hook light, that a dead body was found at the Highlands, near Shrewsbury. It is supposed to be that of the captain of the sehr. Isabella, capsized inside the Hook six weeks ago. The body is a headless trunk, but a silver watch was found in the pockets, with some initials engraved on it, which, though not very distinct, may lead to the identity.

MARRIAGE AT THE TOMES.—On Saturday afternoon two respectable looking persons, both of them advanced into the sere and yellow leaf, named Henry Cruager and Amy Myers, appeared before Justice Lathrop at the Tombs for the purpose of being united in the bonds of wedlock. The bridegroom is a native of Warsaw, in Poland, and partipated in the struggles of 1830, which ended in the fall of that unhappy country. The bride is a native of Holland. On the Judge finding that no legal impediment existed to their uniso, accorded their request, and the parties, accompanied by their friends, adjourned to partake of the wedding feast.

CORRECTED VERSION.

EDITORS OF TRIBUNK—Sir: 1 noticed in your paper of yesterday, under Williamsburgh Rems, in the article "Suicide," several mistakes. It would be best for me to give the facts of the case. The village of Greenport, L.I. was thrown into quite an excitement on Tuesday by the intelligence of the death of Andrew J. Hawks by suicide.

quite an excitement on Tuesday by the intelligence of the death of Andrew J. Hawks by suicide. He was unmarried, about 25 years of age, of good appearance, affable, and liked by all who knew him. He committed suicide by taking an ounce of bromine, a chemical used in the Daguerreotype.—The quantity he took was enough to kill twenty men. He took it about 6 A.M. of Tuesday, and was found in spasms a few minutes afterwards; and although ammonia, hyposulphate of soda and lime water were administered to counteract the influence of the bromine, yet he lingered in the greatest agony till 3 P.M. His stomach being literally destroyed by the chemical, in some places nearly burnt through to the outside. He thought it would kill him instantly. It would probably have killed him very soon if the alkalies had not been administered, which only prolonged his suffering. He was sensible to the last, and expressed contrition and desired to live. This is the first case of suicide by taking bromine, (so say physiolans,) and indeed a most horrible case. Cause, remorse. The Coroner held an inquest at the house of Mr. Henry John Lewis, in K.st. Greenport, (where the suicide occurred,) on Tuesday morning. The corpse was interred at New-York Bay Cemetery on the same day. Mr. Hawks was not a brother in law of the proprietors of the Daguerrian Gallery 142 Chatham-st, (Messrs. W. and W. H. Lewis) on the same day. Mr. Hawks was not a brotherin-law of the proprietors of the Daguerrian Gallery 142 Chatham-st, (Messrs. W. and W. H. Lewis) nor any relative, but was employed there and boarded with Mr. Henry J. Lewis, who is also employed at W. & W. H. L.'s. A physician took the remains of the stomach to see if an antidote to bromine could be discovered.

Yours, with respect, L. L.

Such is the title-page of a very remarkable book
just out of press, which is addressed to the Cleany of New-England and advertised only in the Heligious (Orthodox) journals, yet its character, its subect, and its vigor will inevitably commend it to a very wide and general perusal, however adverse to the wishes of its author. Its purpose is the ar raignment, revision and reversal of a decision lately raignment, revision and reversal of a decision lately pronounced by an Ecclesiastical Tribunal in a neighboring city, whereby it is held that the character of a lady of irrepreachable conduct and life was grossly impugned and her feelings wastenly injured. This book is in good part an exhibit and scrutiny of the proceedings of that tribunal, but necessarily deals also with the antecedent facts wherein those proceedings had their origin. We propose to give a running synopsis of those incidents, without tearing aside the thin veil which the book throws over the names of the parties interested. Those who are already acquainted with those names will need no glossary; those who are not may as well do without one. We will simply pre-mise that the lady introduced as Miss D. was at the time engaged in giving instruction to Ladies, and had rooms at the principal hotel of the neigh-boring city of N. and that Mr. A. was at the outset a student of Theology in the seminary connected with the famed University of that city, and soon afterward licensed to preach in the Congregational order. We may now quote the Testimony of a Lady Boarder.

In the Spring of 1843 I became acquainted with Miss D. She kept her room for three months, a perfect recluse, taking her meals there. After much persuasion, she agreed to accompany me to the table.

much persuasion, she agreed to accompany me to the table.

One day I remember directing her attention to the peculiar gaze of Mr. A. directed at her. At this time we did not know his name. I was under the impression that she did not like my joking her about him, and desisted, always considering her rather prudish in such matters. I was so strack with the young man's manner at the table that I felt anxious to learn his name, and did so. I noticed he changed his seat, and kept edging nearer and nearer to where we sat.

After this, Miss D. informed me that she expected to be introduced to this young stranger, that he had requested an introduction to her through Mrs. F. She said she much preferred being acquainted with him, to sitting at the table with him, not knowing him, and yet have him direct all his attentions to her. She told me afterward that he had called, that she was pleased with him, and considered him quite an intelligent gentleman.

After the introduction he took his seat directly opposite to Miss D. I thought his measure betrayed impassioned admiration. His attention attracted the notice of most of the ladies, children and servants.

It further appears that Mr. A. made known his request to be introduced to Miss D. through Mr. W. whose society was not deemed desirable by the lady. Unwilling to seem wanting in civility, yet not wishing to have Mr. W. among the visitors at her parlor, the lady replied to the application to be made acquainted by a note to Mr. A. himself, simply made acquainted by a note to Mr. A. nimeer, samply saying,

"Miss D. will be happy to see Mr. A. at her rooms at the —— Hotel, this evening, or at any time that may be convenient to him."

It appears from testimony in the book that the reason for thus responding to the request of Mr. A. so as neither to reject his proffered acquaintance nor yet give personal offense to Mr. W. whose society she chose to shun, was plainly understood by the former. Yet in the sequel is transpired that A. on receiving the above note in the company of several young men, proclaimed its purport but not its eral young men, proclaimed its purport bat not its terms, and represented it as an unsolicited invitation from the lady to make her acquaintance and visither in her parlor! And the same circumstance was in like manner made use of, upon the termination of the acquaintance, to explain and justify what most otherwise seem inexcusable in the gentleman's behavior! Says Miss Beecher:

havior! Says Miss Beecher:

"Immediately after this introduction he penned a letter to a classmate of his in another theological institution, in which he gave a most ludierous account of this transaction. This letter, for reasons which will appear hereafter, was read to the writer, and she has a distinct recollection of its contents. It commenced with describing the four gentlemen as smoking together, when a waiter anters and presents the note. It is communicated by the receiver to the whole company, whoreupon it immediately becomes the subject of uproarious mirth. From the description of the scene, it is manifest that his friends conceived this to be a gross violation of propriety in the lady, for the purpose of manifest that his friends conceived this to be a grosse violation of propriety in the lady, for the purpose of securing an acquaintance with a gentleman, whose wealth and other advantages made him a desirable object for speculation. It was an unusually subcessful specimen of humorous composition, and no one could have heard it read without sharing in the merriment described; nor without feeling that the advance of the same that the merriment described; nor without feeling that the ideal, was severely punished for her folly. No mention was made in the letter of the fact that they were fellow-boarders in the hotel, nor that he had requested an introduction, nor of the reasons assigned by the lady for sending the note. The single impression made by the letter was, that the lady had taken a fancy to the young gentleman, and in order to enjoy his society, had written to propose an assignation at some hotel in the city. This was the impression made, not only on the writer, but on his classamate to whom the letter was addressed. The unfavorable opinion of the lady thus produced by the young man on his friends, in reference to this matter, was never remedied by him."

The acquaintance thus inauspiciously begue, and without suspicion on the lady's part of anything peculiar in its character, ripened rapidly into instance. The gentleman contracted a habit of leaving his own seat at the hotel table and taking one by the side of Miss D. in such a maener as to excite general remark. He also spent a good share of his evenings in her parlor. The lady left the hotel, and went to live in the family of a near relative. Mr. A.'s attentions followed her there. The intimacy was terminated by the lady's veto, but if was renewed after a considerable absence of Mr. A. from the City. Her family supposed it had been finally terminated, when Miss D. went to a watering place to spend a short time. Mr. A. usexpectedly met her while on the way, gave up his own journey and accompanied her. They remained mg place special seasons. The premained there several weeks, continually with each other and avoiding other society. They were alone much of the time, walking or reading with each other. They boarded at the same house, and remained there from September to late in November. Their especial intimacy was of course the subject of general remark—as for instance:

"On one cocasion, I overheard, at the public table, the sevemarks, among a few gentlemen: [it was the Sunday Mr. A. preached in the village. One person remarked, after hearing it said that a success of one of the patients preached, and the denial that he was her husband.] "What, are they set married!" Another replied, "No, they are only engaged." Another remarked: "I thought they were a new-married couple." I had perfect means of knowing that they were speaking of Mr. A. and Miss D.

"At another time I beard a lady say to a friend of Mr. A. "I think it neither gostiomanly, ministerial or Christian, for a man to pay such attentions to a lady, if he does not mean to marry her." The same opinion I heard expressed often, and engresses.
